Brook 1, Cardinals 6, N. York 5 Cin'ti 1. Boston 4, Chicago 2. Pitts 1, Philadel 1. A bad play by Captain Jake Beckley of the Cardinals gave to Brooklyn the last game of the series yesterday by a score of 1 to 0, after ten funings of hard playing. Brooklyn faced the barrier in the tenth finning without a run. Babb, the first man up, labeled one of O'Neill's shoots for a single. He took second on Ritter's sacrifice, on which Burke threw the catcher out at first. As Babb turned second he saw a chance to reach third as the base was uncovered, and he and Dave Brain began a sprint for third. Without looking toward third base, Beckley slammed the ball in that direction, and with that throw went the same for the base was unprotected. The ball went up against the fence, while Mr. Babb made a personally conducted tour of the base line between third and home without the slightest danger of molesta-The play was inexplicable. Beckley had a very slight chance to throw Babb cut even had the base been covered, as the Brooklyn shortstop had a good start be-fore Beckley spotted him and was almost at third when Jake made his blunder. BECKLEY'S SECOND OFFENSE.

The "Hannibal Marvel" tomed another game away to the New York during the Giants' first visit here, and sought to hide game away to the New York during the Glants first visit here, and sought to hide behind a section of the rules which prevents interference. Pulliam could not see the play the way Beckley saw it, and the game went against St. Louis.

The game was one of the best contested of the season. O'Nelli and Garvin fought a hard duel, with the Texas Wonder having a slight edge.

Three hits were all the locals could make off Garvin's delivery, while O'Nelli held the visitors down to four safe raps.

O'Nelli showed the best form he had displayed since 1802, when he was rated the king of southpaws.

A triple by Lumley in the first inning was the longest hit of the game, but it went for maught, as O'Nelli fanned Sheekard, the next man up. Mike had the Brooklyn fiver on his staff during the game and fanned him three times.

In the second, third and fourth innings O'Nelli retired the Brooklyns in order.

During the fifth period Mike walked two of the visitors, but a double play, in which he, Brain and Beckley figured, pulled him out of the hole.

The sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth innings were practically without feature for the Brooklyn team.

BROOKLYN WINS GAME.

In the tenth Eabb's hit, Ritter's sacrifice

In the tenth Babb's hit, Ritter's sacrifice and Beckley's wild throw gave to the visitors the game by the smallest possible score—1 to 0.

Shannon reached second for the Cardinals in the opening inning on his single and steal of second, but his comrades left him marconed on the middle cushion.

Washington, July 15 .- That gentle human zephyr, Glade, whiffed fifteen Donovanites into the dim baseball beyond to-day, and stacked up a new strike-out record

As a more side basis to the main event. Glade blanked the Senators for six long innings, during which time he had per-mitted but three hits. An act of grace, however, in the seventh, in the shape of a temporary letup sent two statesmen across the plate, the only runs of the day for the locals. It was sweet revenge for the McAleer tribe after their two humillating defeats of recent date, and to say that Manager Mac were a broad grin as the game progressed is putting it mildly.

as the game progressed is putting it mildly.

The pitching feat of the St Louis twirler easily surpasses that of the Indian Render of the Philadelphia Athletics, against the White Sox of Chicago. Wednesday, when he drew spider webs over the orbs of thirden White Sox.

Of course, it is only fair to say that the locals came very near to scoring without actually doing so. Fortune was against them, or a goodly number of tallies might have been added in the second, with bases full by virtue of some locae playing on the part of Hill and Glade, the Browns slab artist struck out the next three batsmen, including Huelsman, formerly of the Browns, who played center for the batsmen, including Huelsman, formerly of the Browns, who played center for the of the Browns, who played center for the locals to-day.

This feat was repeated in the fifth, with Senators hugging second and third corners, Clarke, Dunkle and Coughlin fanning the air. And so throughout the game the Senators were mowed down like grass, but one inning passing without one or two of the senatorial willow wielders connecting with the ozone instead of the brandnew sphere. This much for Mr. Glade. While it is true that he was pretty nearly the whole cheese in to-day's game, the work of the reat of the boys deserve mention. tion.
To begin with, the Browns played an er-home.

The Senators in their half died hard.

The fifth, with Dunkie in the box, saw no rungettling for either side. It was in this inning that the St. Louis twifer distinguished himself by disposing of the eninguished himself by disposing of the enemy on strikes with men on bases.

In the sixth a triple by Padden and Hill's single brought home the former. A bad throw by Coughlin permitted an unmolested passinge for Hill to the home plate.
Result, two more runs.

The Senators' lucky seventh had been reached, and, remembering their feat of the previous day in the sime inning, the Senators lambasted Glade for two hits, which, coulded with errors on the part of Jones and Hill, netted two runs for the "Cellar Champions."

The ninth was replete with hair-raising

Jones and Hill, netted two runs for the "Celiar Champions."

The ninth was replete with hair-raising fielding on the part of Cassidy and McCormick, who, after Heidrick and Wallace had singled, and Padden had drawn a base, caught Heidrick at the plate on Hill's hot drive to short, and made short work of Sugden's and Glade's drives in their direction, retiring the side with three men on the sacks.

While Glade struck out fifteen Senators, he will also be credited with a complete knockout of Hulseman, who was unfortunate enough to receive one of the former's swift in-shoots in the temple, necessitating his retirement in favor of Drill O'Nell of Washington was also hypnotized by the Browns' slab artist, the ball connecting with his cranium in his endeavor to get out of the way of a snake-like curve.

If Kiely is as good in this event as he is said to be, he will have little trouble in winning, as he has a handleap of one foot.

GOOD MEN ENTERED.

The list of men in the mile event is a good one. Jack Furcell, the English runner, now with the A. A. A., is on scratch. Joe Forshaw of the M. A. C. should give to Furcell a good run with a lead of thirty-five varis, while Johnny McCarthy of the Missouri School of Mines is also to this event with a handleap of eighty-five yards. James Reuter and George Rudolph, both of the First Regiment, each have good leads in this event and may stick.

have good leads in this event and may stick.

In the shot-put are many good men. Fred Warmhold of the North St. Louis Turnverein is scratch. Klely and Hans Wulff, now with the M. A. C., each have a one-foot handleap.

Klely seems to be in bad in the broad jump, as he is on scratch, with Seth Smith having the best of him by ten inches. Gwynne Evans has also shown good form in this event. The handleapper has been good to him and he is allowed twenty inches. Franck of the Triple A team has twelve inches.

Klely will probably win the fifty-six pound weight event, although he is scratch, with many good men entered. He is going to try for a new record in this event.

Gold medals will be awarded to the winners of each event, while the prizes for second place vary.

The entries are as follows:

To begin with, the Browns played an errorless game, with the exception of four misplays. One by Jones and two by Hill were in the shape of poor throwing, while Glade made a disastrous fumble. As to batting, the visitors were particularly in their element. The 'Delaware Peach,' Jack Townsend, was an easy mark. He was relieved by big Ed Dunkle, who fared even worse. The Browns registered a total of twelve safe swats.

STORY OF THE GAME.

Neither side scored in the first. In the second the visitors cut loose when Hedrick tripled to deep right, and scored on Padden's drive to left. A base on bulls to Sugden, and a bingle by Hemphili acored another for the Browns in the third. In the fourth two more runs were added to the Mound City boys score. After Jones and Heldrick had been retired on strikes, Wallace hit to center, stole second, and was forced home on successive gifts to Padden, Hill and Sugden. A thit from Glade's stick brought Padden home.

NO RECEIVER FOR

Judge Douglas Overrules Petition of John P. Collins, Holding That Adverse Conditions May Be Only Temporary.

Circuit Judge Douglas yesterday denied the application of John P. Collins for the appointment of a receiver for the Union Jockey Club Racing Association. He said the evidence showed that the association has lost money, and that it is likely to continue to lose during the remainder of the racing season. The evidence also showed, he said, that the association is insolvent in the sense that it has not sufficient ready money to pay its present debts. "It is a well known fact," the Judge said, "and one of which the court must take cognizance, that business ventures in take cognizance, that business ventures in which large returns are sought must necessarily be for a time conducted at loss. Such a loss, when complained of by but one stockholder, even though he he also a creditor, cannot justify a court in putting a stop to the venture, and taking the property from its owners to be sold and the proceeds distributed under order of court."

The evidence shows, said Judge Douglas, that the defendant's race track at Union boulevard and Natural Bridge read cost in excess of $133,000; that this is the first in excess of bloody, that thus is the first racing season and conditions are averse from what may be temporary causes, and that no director, stockholder or creditor of the association, except the plaintiff, is complaining of the situation or manage-complaining of the situation or management.

There is no proof, the Judge said, of fraud on the part of P. J. Carmody, general manager of the association, or his codirectors, or evidence that the directors neglected their duties or abdicated their power. They appear, the court said, to nave been different and faithful.

The court did not feel competent to pass upon the business judgment of making admission to the track free.

The measure was not adopted, he said, to serve the personal ends of Carmody or the directors, who are defendants in the suit, and the procedure seems to have resulted in benefit to the association.
